A community dedicated to the integration of permaculture principles! Our intention is to BE in harmony and cohesion with each other and the earth - to further develop a cultural evolution for our species.

We are developing a network of people that will intelligently integrate human endeavours with the biological web of life in this living experiment. The land will be protected through a land trust and participants will be welcomed as stewards of the earth. Our community will use a novel self governing egalitarian system and a well defined sharing economy as our social economic backdrop.

We are now seeking participants from all over the world. A diversity of backgrounds will strengthen and enrich the community. We embrace families as well as individuals of all ages with the intention to live and celebrate existence together. Over time we aim to establish a village of between 50 to 200 participants. Together we can thrive by tapping into the power of creative people synergies.

Our intention is to start this community in Panama, within easy reach of the ocean, with access to rivers, mountains and nearby villages. The potential for a blossoming permaculture community is ripe. Land use will be divided into a detailed permaculture plan created by the pioneers and any future participants, after a careful year long observation into distinct zones: village (personal and communal spaces), agroforestry, agricultural and protected preserves.

The opportunity for self sufficiency as a group, for various income streams and evolving divergent possibilities is large. The community will create products and services that are unique to the region. We will provide services and food for each other as an independant tribe and network with other intentional communities around the world.

We are now raising funds and inviting people to participate in creating this community with us, as well as persons interested in donating/ investing in the project. Help us achieve our highest potential!
